LEXINGTON, KY .- Rev. Green Clay Smith preached last Sunday to the Pilgrim Baptists, in Melodeon Hall. The audience was respectable in appearance and numbers, but not very devout look-ing. Probably some were attracted to see how an ex-general appeared in the pulpit. Mr. Smith commenced by announcing the 418th hymn. After the chauting of this sacred composition he offered a fervent prayer "that the Lord who sent the rain and floods would soften the hearts of his stiff-necked people." The text chosen was a singular one, being that pertion of St. Paul's Epistle that is read by Episcopal clergy-men at funerals. The entire discourse that followed was upon death, judgment
